The Word Made Flesh

Have you ever heard someone say something completely outlandish? The Jews in today's Gospel are not just shocked by Jesus' teaching, they are also likely disgusted and offended. Is Jesus of Nazareth really telling them that He is the Bread of Life and the fulfillment of all the Scriptures? Is he truly the new Passover Lamb? These possibilities are scandalous to them. Oftentimes, living our faith can cause scandal, at least in the eyes of the world. It's radical for us to cling to the truths of the faith and to Christ in today's culture. Let's take some time today to learn more about the Eucharist, the source and summit of our faith. Jesus knew we need physical signs, which is why he gave us his very self, hidden under the appearances of bread and wine, to nourish us on our journey in this life.

First Reading Reflection 1 Kings 19:4-8

Sometimes success is rewarded with difficulty. Here we find Elijah just after the peak of his renown. He has just defeated the prophets of Baal on Mt. Carmel, where the Lord sent down fire from heaven to consume his sacrifice. The people of Israel confessed triumphantly, "The Lord is God! The Lord is God!" (1 Kings 18:39), and Elijah executed all the prophets of Baal. It would seem that his struggles against pagan worship were at an end and he could continue his prophetic ministry in peace. Yet the Baal-worshipping queen, Jezebel, seeks revenge. She wants to kill Elijah for his actions on Mt. Carmel, so he must flee for his life. Despite his victory, Elijah finds himself exhausted in the desert without food or water, shading himself under the only tree he can find and praying for death. But the Lord is not yet done with him. Instead, he sends an angel with food and water to sustain the prophet. In fact, this heaven-sent meal is nothing short of miraculous food that sustains Elijah for forty days and forty nights on his journey to Mt. Horeb, the place where Moses received the Ten Commandments from the Lord. Our own lives have ups and downs. The key to riding them out is to depend on the Lord's provision in our most despairing moments. Rather than praying for death like Elijah, we can pray for the Lord's help. He knows our needs and longs to sustain us for the journey ahead.

Second Reading Reflection Ephesians 4:30—5:2

It can be hard to see the connection between the spiritual realm and our everyday activities. God can seem distant; prayer can feel dry; and the invisible battle of angels and demons raging all around us can slip our minds like a distant memory. Yet Saint Paul clearly teaches that our sins "leave room for the devil" (Ephesians 4:26) and "grieve the holy Spirit of God" (v. 30). Jesus warns us against becoming outwardly pious while being inwardly corrupt (see Matthew 6:5). In fact, a great deal of our personal spiritual battle is not just about changing our external conduct, but getting our internal attitudes to line up with our upright behavior. In particular, Paul targets our speech—"fury, anger, shouting"—for change since "from the fullness of the heart the mouth speaks" (Luke 6:45; NAB). Our speaking to one another reveals our interior spiritual condition. Instead of shouting at each other, we should forgive each other like God forgives us and thus be "imitators of God" (Ephesians 5:1). By imitating his pattern of generous love and forgiveness, we slowly begin to become like him. The Holy Spirit gives us grace, not just to escape from Hell, but actually to become holy like God. Our everyday life, our habits, our relationships, and our work can be transformed from a merely human set of tasks into a Spirit-empowered, God-imitating reality. The invisible realm thus invades the visible. It is through our actions that the life of God becomes observable in the world.

Gospel Reflection John 6:41–51

Even though the crowds had been seeking Jesus out and pleaded with him to give them the bread from heaven, now they question him. He claims to be the bread come down from Heaven, but they dismiss him as merely “the son of Joseph” (John 5:42). He is familiar to them, and so they reject his claims to divinity. But Jesus doesn’t back down. Instead, he reaffirms his claim by quoting Isaiah, saying that everyone will be “taught by God”—that is, by Jesus himself. He doubles down on his identity as the living bread come down from Heaven when he insists that we must both believe in him and eat the bread, which is his flesh, in order to gain eternal life. The crowd wanted to have something to eat, but they did not want to change their perspective. They wanted to receive the benefits of belief without actually believing. Jesus seemed like a normal person, a familiar face in the village, and when he claims to be something more, the crowd can’t comprehend how someone seemingly so normal could actually be the Son of God. It is easy for us to fall into the same trap and regard Jesus as the world does: just another religious teacher, an interesting historical person. Yet Jesus’s claims lay ahold of our very lives. If he is who he says he is, then our whole world is altered, turned upside down by the very fact that the Son of God has walked in our midst. And yet he has not only come to us, but he has offered us his eternal-life-giving flesh in the Eucharist.

Log in to your FORMED account and click the “Community” tab and visit the Opening the Word Discussion. From there, you can view a short video reflection on today’s readings and respond to the discussion questions.

Consider discussing these questions with a friend this week, or write your thoughts in a journal.

When have you thought Christ to be crazy and rejected his teaching or resisted what you learned about him?

Who is one person you need to show kindness or compassion to this week?

Digging Deeper Prayer After Communion

It is easy to become distracted after we receive Communion on Sunday as we watch for friends and pay attention to people’s Sunday style. However, this is a profoundly intimate time with Jesus. We should give him all our attention and reverence to him during the time that he is in our hearts. Here is a prayer you can pray as you focus your heart on him. It is called the Anima Christi and was written by St. Ignatius of Loyola: “Soul of Christ, sanctify me. Body of Christ, save me. Blood of Christ, inebriate me. Water flowing from the side of Christ, purify me. Passion of Christ, comfort me. O good Jesus, hear me. Hide me within Thy wounds. Never permit me to be separated from Thee. From the malignant enemy defend me. At the hour of my death call me, and cause me to come to Thee, that with the Saints and the Angels, I may praise Thee For everlasting ages. Amen.”.

Jesus has just shared a shocking teaching with the Jewish people. He has told them that they must eat his body and drink his blood in order to have eternal life. Surprised and perhaps disgusted, they begin “murmuring” about what he has said. Jesus, however, does not correct himself or apologize to them. Rather, he continues to impress upon them the necessity of eating his flesh and drinking his blood in order to have eternal life with the Father.

This teaching is radical. How do you feel when you hear Jesus say these things? What is your first reaction? Share it with Jesus. Ask and pray for a heart of faith to believe and firmly adhere to his words.

Jesus gives us the path to eternal life--his flesh and blood. Do you make Mass a priority in your life? Do you devote yourself to the Eucharist? Or, do you allow yourself to become lax in your worship and reverence for the Blessed Sacrament?

Resolution

Foster your devotion to the Blessed Sacrament this week. Spend some time in prayer deciding how God is calling you to do this.

Prayer Requests

Continued prayers for our pastor, Fr Carl.

For the victims of the California fires and for the first responders.

For the repose of the souls of Paul Garcia, Virginia Ypil, Livia Villa and Roger Alejundro Sarria.

Send your prayer requests to our parish “Prayer Warriors” at Prayers@StMichaelLivermore.com

Dear Parishioners of St. Michael,

After a busy weekend, thank God I survived! Last week, I was able to visit the cemetery and also did my usual hour prayer walk. Without planning it, I saw the tombs and graves of our pastors, priests and deacons. Then, I prayed my Rosary there and asked Msgr. Adams, Father Augustine and others to pray for me and for our parish. I am so blessed to see how you take good care of your priests until death.

It was a good day to visit the cemetery and tour around the city. I like to walk at night after dinner downtown and drop by Sharetea! What a nice cool place. There are so many amazing restaurants, and I can't wait for the $5 Tuesdays at Livermore Cinema.

I am enjoying my morning Masses with the you, and it really energizes me to see that many people are coming to Mass every morning. I am impressed with your holy prayerfulness.

Next week, after my morning Masses, I will start to sit down in the Confessional. As part of my good habit and devotion, I am willing and ready to exercise this Sacrament and make it available for you.

Let me end my message with a quote from St. Ignatius of Loyola:

Lord Jesus, teach me to be generous; teach me to serve you as you deserve, to give and not to count the cost, to fight and not to heed the wounds, to toil and not to seek for rest, to labor and not to seek reward, except that of knowing that I do your will.

Amen.

St. Michael, defend us and protect us!

A Mystery Solved!

This small window at the top of the choir loft is the only window dedicated to the memory of a Dominican sister. She must have been greatly loved, but no one in 2018 knew who she was. None of the Dominican motherhouses had her on record. Finally we found her obituary in the Livermore Herald of July 21, 1917. Sister Mary Bertrand had a last name: O'Connor! She was a native of San Francisco who had joined the Dominican order and had taken her final vows just six months before her untimely death.

Sister Mary Bertrand had joined the staff of the St. Michael Academy to teach music when it opened in 1913. By 1917, Sister Mary Bertrand needed an operation. No one expected the operation to be life-threatening. Her death was a great shock to everyone who knew her. Quoting her obituary, "She had grown to love the warm-hearted people of Livermore, and they returned the feeling in kind. People of all denominations who knew her were charmed with her cheery manner and deeply regret her untimely death."

Construction of the new St. Michael Church on Maple Street was underway in 1917, and although the stained-glass windows commissioned from the Church Art and Glass Studio in San Francisco depicted saints and angels known throughout the Catholic world, two windows were reserved for recently deceased people who had contributed greatly to the St. Michael community. One window was dedicated to the memory of Father Patrick Power, the pastor who had purchased the land for the St. Michael Academy and the cemetery on East Avenue. The second window was the small one lighting the choir loft showing Jesus praying in the wilderness. Having Sister Mary Bertrand O'Connor honored in the place her music students would occupy during Mass was entirely appropriate.

Queridos feligreses de San Miguel,

Después de un fin de semana ocupado, ¡gracias a Dios que sobreviví! La semana pasada, pude visitar el cementerio y también hice mi caminata de oración de hora habitual. Sin planearlo, vi las tumbas y tumbas de nuestros pastores, sacerdotes y diáconos. Entonces, oré allí mi Rosario y le pedi a Mons. Adams, al padre Augustine y a otros para que recen por mí y por nuestra parroquia. Estoy agradecido al ver cómo cuidan de los sacerdotes hasta la muerte.

Fue un buen día para visitar el cementerio y recorrer la ciudad. ¡Me gusta caminar por la noche después de cenar en el centro de la ciudad y pasar por Sharetea! Qué lugar genial. Hay tantos restaurantes increíbles, y no puedo esperar los martes de $ 5 en Livermore Cinema.

Estoy disfrutando mis Misas de la mañana con ustedes y realmente me llena de energía ver cuantas personas vienen a misa todas las mañanas. Estoy impresionado por la santa oración de todos.

La semana próxima después de mis Misas de la mañana, comenzaré a sentarme en el Confesionario. Como parte de mi buen hábito y devoción, estoy dispuesto y listo para ejercer este Sacramento y ponerlo a disposición de ustedes.

Permítanme terminar mi mensaje con una cita de San Ignacio de Loyola:

Señor Jesús, enséñame a ser generoso; enséñame a servirte como te mereces, a dar y no a contar el costo, a pelear y no prestar atención a las heridas, a trabajar duro y no a buscar descanso, a trabajar y a no buscar recompensas, excepto el de saber que hago tu voluntad

Amén.

¡San Miguel, defiéndenos y protégenos!

EL PERDÓN

Durante estos días, podemos darnos cuenta que estamos tanto en una nación amargamente dividida como en una Iglesia dividida. Podemos vernos a nosotros mismos tanto justos como correctos, pero necesitamos tomar una mirada más atenta tanto a nosotros y a otros antes de hacer un juicio. Es ciertamente posible que estemos en lo correcto y que la otra persona esté totalmente equivocada, pero debemos estar atentos, con humildad, que quizá nosotros somos lo que estamos equivocados en muchas cosas. Aún si estuviéramos en lo correcto, san Pablo nos recuerda que "la aspereza, la ira, la indignación, los insultos, la maledicencia y toda clase de maldad" debe ser desterrada. Tener la razón no tiene importancia si constantemente estamos condenando y ridiculizando a nuestros "oponentes" en el mundo y en la Iglesia. "Imitar y vivir como Cristo, que nos amó y se entregó por nosotros", san Pablo dice: "No le causen tristeza al Espíritu Santo".

ALIMENTOS PARA LA VIDA

"Cristo nos amó y se entregó por nosotros, como ofrenda y víctima de fragancia agradable a Dios". Jesús habla de él mismo como el "pan de vida". Él nos enseña que aquellos que vienen a él están llamados por Dios, y que él mismo es el único que ha visto a Dios; si creemos, resucitaremos el último día. Si pensamos que tenemos la razón solo porque creemos que estamos en lo correcto, basados en nuestro conocimiento, nos estamos engañando. Si creemos que tenemos la razón porque seguimos los escritos de otros que se jactan de su conocimiento de Dios, pero no muestran bondad y amor por los demás, somos unos tontos. Si condenamos a otros porque no creen lo que creemos nosotros, nos condenamos nosotros mismos por no seguir a Jesús humilde y gentil. Debemos ser humildes, y siempre recordar que "les instruiré en el temor del Señor". No juzgues, pues Jesús dice: "yo soy el pan de vida que ha bajado del cielo, quien coma de este pan vivirá por siempre, . . . quien crea tendrá la vida eterna".
