The foreigners who join themselves to the Lord . . .

ISAIAH 56:6, 7

August 20, 2017

TWENTIETH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

Great Faith & Prayer

First Reading

Thus says the LORD: "Stand firm in justice; do what is right" (Isaiah 56:1, 6-7).

In this passage from the Prophet Isaiah, we see another clear indication that God's plan, advanced by way of Israel, is a plan "for all peoples." In the period following the Maccabean revolt (see 1 and 2 Maccabees), a number of Gentiles began to attach themselves to Judaism. The Jews responded by establishing a process by which these foreigners could be incorporated into Israel, which included a ritual bath, or baptism. At that time it might have appeared to them that this prophecy of Isaiah was beginning to be fulfilled.

But the full import of this prophecy is only seen when Jesus opens the fullness of the covenant to those beyond the tribal limits of Israel, as we see hinted at in the Gospel for this Sunday. This prophecy from Isaiah suggests that kind of full inclusion, indicating that foreigners would minister to God and serve him, even in the Temple on Mt. Zion. That is, these people would enter fully into the ritual life of the covenant with God and not merely stand in the outer courts of the Temple ("the court of the Gentiles"). That happens in the Catholic Church. The term catholic means "universal." In this universal Church founded by Christ, we who are not Jews by blood become priests, prophets, and kings by Baptism, and are made full participants in the perfect offering and sacrifice that Jesus makes of himself to the Father in the Holy Mass.

Second Reading

The gifts and the calling of God are unable to be revoked (Romans 11:13-15, 29-32).

Paul was the agent chosen by God to announce the extension of full covenant life to the Gentiles. While the ultimate reasons for this election by God are known by him alone, it is quite possible that Paul was chosen because of his unique qualifications to play this role in the divine plan. First, he was deeply committed to a radical embrace of Jewish life as one of the Pharisees, a group that endeavored to live the Jewish religious law piously. Next, he was adamantly and actively opposed to the nascent Christian movement called "the Way," to the point that he seems to have spearheaded its suppression by the Jewish authorities. He was also a scholar of the highest caliber, which made him capable of making the argument for covenant extension to the Gentiles from a perspective within Judaism itself, once he came to recognize the truth of Christianity.

All of this made Paul a particularly effective instrument in the final part of the early phase of the Church's foundation. But, the failure of the Jewish people as a whole to recognize what Paul had come to see so clearly remained a mystery to him. In this text from Romans, he makes clear that although the reasons for this remain shrouded, the "call of God" for the Jewish people remains intact. They are not abandoned, they are not excluded from God's plan, any more than the Gentiles had been excluded from God's plan for Israel. It remains a plan for all people.

Gospel Reading

Jesus told the Canaanite woman of great faith, "It shall be done as you wish" (Matthew 15:21-28).

As already noted, God's plan for the human race has been from the beginning a universal plan, intended to include all. And so, it might seem rather odd that Jesus, who is the personification of that plan, should seem at first so standoffish toward this Gentile woman who appeals to him for help. The key to understanding this text lies in the fact that, as Jesus makes clear, at this stage in the fulfillment of that plan, his primary mission is for "the lost sheep of the house of Israel."

Jesus gives clear indications that his saving work will find greater extension in episodes like this one with the Canaanite woman and in chapter 4 of John's Gospel, where he discloses his mission and identity to the Samaritan woman at the well. These non-Jews receive remarkable favors from Jesus that are credited not to national origin but to faith. But Israel must be courted first, because, as he tells the Samaritan woman, "Salvation is from the Jews" (John 4:22).

Jesus doesn't disclose the full extent of the divine plan at this early stage because it would have introduced an obstacle to his disclosure of that plan with regards to the Jews. They are the children who need to be attended to first so that they can lead others to him. Jesus calls the Canaanite woman a "dog" because the Jews used this term to indicate the barbaric practices of the Canaanite people. It is less an insult than an indicator of the outcast position of the woman. Note that she acknowledges the sins of her people in asking for his aid.

Grow in Discipleship

In this week's Gospel, Jesus goes into Gentile (non-Jew) territory and encounters there a Canaanite whose daughter is ill. She learns he is there and goes to him, begging for help. At first Jesus doesn't answer her, but she continues to beg for his help.

Even when he tells her that it isn't right to give the food of the children to the dogs, she retorts by saying that even the dogs get crumbs. Jesus is so impressed by her boldness that he heals her daughter, saying, "Oh woman, great is your faith!"

From this story, we learn two important points. The first is that persistent prayer backed by unwavering faith will receive an answer from the Lord. We don't always receive the answers in the way we want or expect to, but if we pray persistently, we will see our hearts open up to the good thing God wants for us.

The second is that we who live 2,000 years after Christ can still receive his healing and blessing. He healed the woman's daughter from a distance and he can still heal us today. Time and space are no barriers to the Lord of all time and all space.

Since many of us have had the experience of praying when it seems as if our prayers are battering against a brick wall, this Gospel story of the persistent woman serves to increase our faith in the love and mercy of the Lord for each one of us.

Reflection & Discussion

Persistence in prayer can bear much fruit. Please watch the short 6-minute video on today's Gospel reading on FORMED.org, which offers one great example of someone whose persistence with the Lord was rewarded.

According to the presenter, why did Jesus initially refuse the woman's request to heal her daughter?

What does Jesus say is the reason he was willing to grant her request?

DIGGING DEEPER: Even the Puppies

The Greek word used for dogs in this parable likely isn't the standard word for an outside dog running in the streets, but rather is a diminutive meaning something more like a pet or a puppy. When the woman says to Jesus that even the dogs get the crumbs, she is using the image of a household pet, begging at the table. The whole exchange, rather than being as harsh as it sounds in English, has a more playful tone about it.

To request a Mass intention, please visit the church office.

What is the deepest prayer on your heart? Imagine that you are with the woman in today's Gospel. You hear her banter with Jesus and you see her joy at being granted her request. Now you come before Jesus with your desire, your prayer. Picture yourself presenting that petition to him. Do you truly believe that he will answer your prayer? Are you willing to persevere in making this request if it is not answered right away? Are you open to having your heart conform to his will if he should respond to your prayer in a way other than what you request?

Resolution

Make a "Prayer List." Write down what you are praying for and then record the response: Yes, No, or Wait. Keep the journal for at least a month and pay attention to how God is responding to your requests. Also trust that God wants what is best for you and sometimes answers our prayers in unexpected ways that are truly for our best.

Use a journal to write down your thoughts and reflections and your resolutions.

Parish Prayer Requests

Gracious God as the summer begins to fade, new possibilities lie on the horizon. Bless our teachers and principal as they prepare for the start of the year, as well as those who support them in their efforts. Bless our children along with their parents. May this school year be a time of grace and potential for all. Help us to practice patience and love with one another. Give us ears to listen, a mind to understand, and your spirit to discern, share, and challenge our children to grow in faith, knowledge and wisdom. We commit our year to you and ask you to guide us as we embark on this year together.

*Please send your prayer requests to

News & Announcements

Thank You, From Deacon Bill and Jayne

To all our wonderful friends and parishioners of St. Michael Parish:

We truly wish to thank you for all the special cards, prayers, and mass intentions that were offered for the recent death of our beloved grandson, Jacob Benson. It was so special to see all who attended Jacob's funeral. Thank you for coming as it meant a lot to our family.

Jacob was an enjoyable and loving grandson who we really enjoyed raising through the years, and he will be sincerely missed as part of our family.

Jacob gave us many happy memories that he leaves behind as he joins our Lord Jesus in heaven for the rest of eternity, because Jesus tells us that in His Father's house He has many dwelling places, and He also tells us that He is going to prepare a place for Jacob. Our prayers will always be with him as we know he will always have a place to rest in peace.

God bless each of you and again thank you so very much for all that you have done with your kind words and prayers. We will never forget your kindness.

Sincerely,
Deacon Bill and Jayne Archer

Sesión 9: María y los Santos

¿Qué pensamos de María, la Madre de Jesús, y cómo es que nuestra relación con ella tiene un efecto en nuestra relación con su Hijo? ¿Cuál es la conexión entre nuestro entendimiento acerca de María y del resto de los santos? ¿Por qué le pedimos a María y a otras "personas muertas" que oren por nosotros? Las respuestas a estas preguntas sirven para darnos un esquema para las enseñanzas de la Iglesia Católica sobre la vida después de la muerte y a lo que le llamamos "La Comunión de los Santos".

LLAMADOS A ACTUAR EN EL NOMBRE DE DIOS

"¡Que todos los pueblos te alaben!" (Salmo 67:4) exclama la respuesta del salmo de hoy. En el salterio y en otras escrituras hebreas, este tipo de invocación es en realidad una invitación a Dios para que actúe e intervenga en las vidas humanas de tal manera que haga que todos -no sólo el Pueblo Elegido -exprese alabanzas. Dicho algo más fuerte, es como desafiar a Dios para que "aguante o se calle", el tipo de palabras duras que los salmistas de Israel, confiando en su íntima relación de amor con Dios, no temían expresar.

El Evangelio tiene su propia exclamación que anuncia la aparición de la mujer cananea con un "Entonces" (Mateo 15:22). "Entonces" o "he aquí" es una señal en la Biblia que nos indica que observemos con mucha atención, que Dios está por actuar o anunciar algo por medio de un individuo o una situación. En el caso de Jesús, Dios iba a obrar a través de esta mujer, a quien ninguno de los seguidores de Jesús hubiera creído pudiera ser una agente de la voluntad divina. Como los salmistas, puede que informemos en forma pasiva a Dios o quizás hasta activamente le desafiemos para que haga algo para que todos lleguen a creer, mas Dios siempre nos volteará las posiciones. Se convierte en nuestro llamado, nuestro deber (como lo fue para Jesús) observar atentamente las situaciones y a las personas en nuestra vida diaria para que Dios pueda actuar a través de nosotros, para que el Reino sea anunciado en nuestro diario vivir.
