Sunday Readings

The New Law

We may never have given any thought as to why Jesus gave these teachings on the side of a mountain, but the time and place matter if we are to truly understand how radical Jesus's message was in his time.

In first-century Israel, the hill country of Galilee was the hotbed of revolt. Revolutionaries and radicals sometimes went to this area to plot against Herod and the Romans, who were a hated occupying force. If you saw Jesus heading to the Mount, you might have assumed he was going to give a fiery speech against the Roman oppressors. If you had followed him, what you would have heard is a not a "Down with Rome!" speech, but a set of teachings about how he came not to abolish the Law of the Old Testament, but to fulfill it.

Jesus's message was radical and revisionary, but not in the way people expected. Jesus didn't come to say that he would free us from the moral standards of the Old Testament Law, but instead he "ups the ante." For instance, adultery is condemned under the Old Law; Jesus says that even thinking lustful thoughts is sinful under the New Law. He refocuses attention, not on a series of commands written in stone, but rather on a law that is written in the hearts of humanity. His is a revolutionary teaching, not against an oppressive government but against our own hardness of heart.

In this week's Gospel, Jesus calls us to give more than we can ever imagine, but he also promises to give us the grace and ability to fulfill that call.

First Reading

God allows us to make choices, but we are not to choose injustice or sinfulness (Sirach 15:15-20).

The attainment of wisdom is Sirach's primary theme in this passage. The first step toward wisdom is to fear the Lord, that is, to reject sin. This passage addresses the freedom we have to adhere to that law of God which leads to true wisdom—or not. We're free to choose, but Sirach makes it clear that the choice isn't equally weighted on both sides. You might say that we're free to choose but not free to sin.

Our choice isn't an arbitrary one in which good or evil are merely neutral alternatives. Obedience to the law leads to life, and disobedience to death.

Righteousness conforms to our nature, made by the all-wise God, and lawlessness causes our very nature to decay. We may be free to choose to sin, but our freedom isn't a permission to sin, as is sometimes thought today. Sirach says that freedom is only ennobling when it's exercised in pursuit of wisdom through adherence to the Law of the Covenant. The gift of freedom can't be understood apart from the Giver. Sin is exactly a violation of our freedom because it leads to the ultimate slavery—death. Our ability to choose to sin should never be misunderstood to be a "freedom to sin."

and Meditation

Second Reading

God's wisdom is mysterious and hidden (1 Corinthians 2:6-10).

We can only imagine the flame that the realization of God's plan in Christ sparked in St. Paul. He entirely poured himself out in the service of the Gospel. We can see a glimpse of Paul's goal in the description of the Beatific Vision of Heaven he gives us: "Eye has not seen and ear has not heard, and what has not entered the human heart what God has prepared for those who love him." It's somehow fitting that the mysterious plan of God should have a mysterious goal.

As we begin to draw back the curtain on the Christian mystery by our participation in the liturgy, the reading of Scripture, private prayer, and works of mercy, we find that as the mystery of Christ's life begins to take shape in our souls, the mysterious life of Heaven begins to sprout there, too. It's out of this kind of experience that St. Paul speaks in this passage. Owing to his direct participation in the plan of God, the mystery of Christ wasn't merely a goal, but the a wisdom that Paul carried around with him. He drew from this inner wellspring when he shared the revelation of the mysterious plan of God that we call the Gospel.

Gospel

Jesus has come not to abolish but to fulfill the law and the prophets (Matthew 5:17-37).

Matthew shows us that Jesus understood himself to be an important instrument in God's plan for the future of Israel and the Gentiles as well. In this passage, Jesus explains that his intention isn't to abolish all that has preceded him in God's revelation to the Jewish people, particularly the laws given through Moses. Rather, he has "come not to abolish, but to fulfill" Jesus's position on the Law is perfectly in concert with both his divine nature and his human nature. He will fulfill, not abolish, all that has gone before.

He shows us just what he means by giving a list of particular references to murder, adultery, divorce, and false witness. In each case, with one exception, he doesn't abolish what went before. On the contrary, he strengthens the requirement, placing a deeper obligation on the Christian disciple than the Mosaic Law had done on the Jew. We see Jesus not only acting as the new Moses, but correcting Moses and speaking on behalf of God's original design. In Matthew, Jesus isn't merely a new Moses but the God who spoke to Moses. It's in this capacity that he fulfills the Law by calling the disciple, not merely to obedience, but also to a deeper, more obedient love.

Meditation

Jesus says, "Therefore, if you bring your gift to that altar, and there recall that your brother has anything against you, leave your gift there at the altar, go first and be reconciled with your brother, and then come and offer your gift." What goes through your mind when you hear these words? Is there someone with whom you need to reconcile? Is there something you need to do to make amends? Let Jesus bring to mind what it is he would have you do.

Mary, Our Model in Prayer

All praise and glory are yours, almighty Father:

You have given us your Son Jesus to save us from sin.
We praise you for choosing Mary to be his mother,
for teaching her to believe your message,
for helping her to accept your holy will.

Strengthen us by your Spirit to be like Mary:
to ponder your word in our hearts,
to obey your will,
to love your Son,
to sing your praises every day.

Father,
we praise you through Jesus Christ Your Son
in the love of your Spirit,
for ever and ever.

Amen.

Reminders

Lifting Up Hands in Prayer at Mass is a Prayer Position Reserved Only for the Priest

Anytime the priest celebrating Mass offers prayers on behalf of the faithful, he uses the Orans Posture—extending his hands upward. This posture is reserved for the celebrant only. Deacons, priests concelebrating Mass and the laity are not to use this posture.

The laity should not lift up hands during the Our Father, along with responding "And with your Spirit" or at any other time during the Mass.

In 1997, Pope John Paul II delivered instructions "On Certain Questions Regarding the Collaboration of the Non-Ordained Faithful in the Sacred Ministry of Priest: Practical Provisions" and said:

"In eucharistic celebrations deacons and non-ordained members of the faithful may not pronounce prayers — e.g. especially the eucharistic prayer, with its concluding doxology — or any other parts of the liturgy reserved to the celebrant priest. Neither may deacons or non-ordained members of the faithful use gestures or actions which are proper to the same priest celebrant. It is a grave abuse for any member of the non-ordained faithful to "quasi preside" at the Mass while leaving only that minimal participation to the priest which is necessary to secure validity."

The habit of lifting up our hands during Mass may take a while to break. We are urged to be a pastoral model for others by holding our hands together in prayer during the Our Father.

Fast from Food and Drink for One Hour Before Receiving Communion

"One who is to receive the Most Holy Eucharist is to abstain from any food or drink, with the exception of water and medicine, for at least the period of one hour before Holy Communion." Code of Canon Law 919

The period of fast before receiving Holy Communion is reduced to "approximately one quarter of an hour" for those who are sick at home or at a medical facility, those elderly confined to home or a nursing home, and those who care for these people and who are unable conveniently to observe the fast ("Immensae Caritatis," 1973).

WAYS to PARTICIPATE at MASS

- 1 Arrive early
It helps us prepare our hearts for the Eucharist
- 2 Turn off your cell phone
The only one we should be talking to is God
- 3 Pray and sing along
Keep a spirit of prayer during the ceremony
- 4 Pay attention to what is said
Listen to the readings and everything the priest says
- 5 Receive Communion with devotion
It is important that we pray before and after we receive Christ
- 6 Give thanks afterwards
After the final blessing, give thanks to God

ESCONDIENDONOS DE NOSOTROS MISMOS

En el Evangelio de Mateo, Jesús parece que es muy duro con las personas religiosas. En el Sermón de la Montaña (capítulos 5 al 7), Jesús frecuentemente habla a las personas que conocen la Ley de Moisés, y aquellos que tienen alguna posición de autoridad en la comunidad judía. ¡Jesús los confrontaba! En el Evangelio de hoy, cuando el interpreta específicamente algunas partes de la Ley, él relaciona la Ley con lo más profundo del corazón de la persona. Él desafía a quienes lo están escuchando y a nosotros, a ver aquello que escondemos de nosotros mismos.

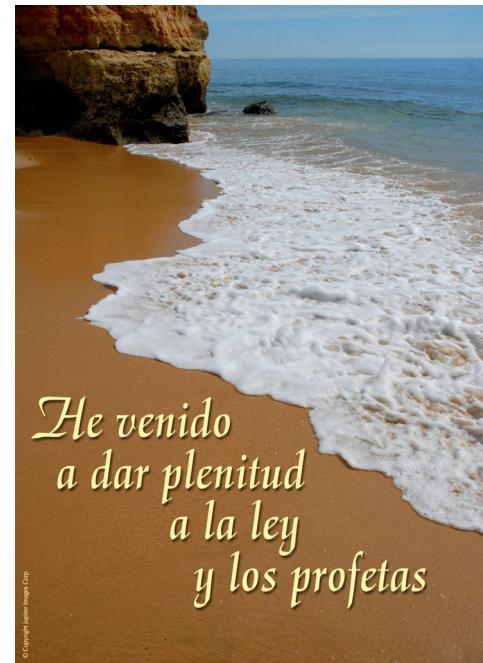

Si no somos diligentes, podemos usar un sistema de ética o de ley religiosa para asegurarnos y asegurar a los demás que estamos moralmente en lo correcto. Cuando esto pasa, podemos pensar que no hay necesidad para nosotros de reflexionar o cambiar y no tenemos necesidad de perdón. Jesús nos recuerda que podemos algunas veces usar a la religión para distraernos de nuestras dificultades, nuestra meditación y del arrepentimiento.

LA VIDA EN EL REINO DE DIOS

Cuando Jesús desafía a sus oyentes en el Evangelio de hoy, él no busca humillarlos o atraparlos en la culpa o la vergüenza. Sus desafíos son parte de su basto mensaje de la gracia de Dios. Jesús está describiendo la vida en el reino de Dios, el cual está en el corazón de sus enseñanzas y ministerio. Él está describiendo a quienes ahí prosperan: las personas que buscan la reconciliación, quienes respetan tanto a las mujeres y a los hombres, y a quienes hablan con la verdad.

Estos son los pobres, desamparados, los de corazón puro y misericordioso, así como ya lo describió en la Beatitudes. Ellos están conscientes de sus faltas, pero también saben que Dios está con ellos, alentándolos y guiándolos. Ellos pueden perdonar a los demás por que ellos ya han sido perdonados. Ellos continuamente se esfuerzan en escuchar a Dios en la oración. Ellos pueden vivir con un corazón abierto y vivir con confianza en Dios. Así como aquellos que escuchan hoy a Jesús, se nos llama a vivir de la misma manera.
