Peace and Mercy

First Reading

All who believed were devoted to the teachings of the apostles, the communal life, the breaking of the bread, and prayer (Acts 2:42-47).

We now enter that part of the liturgical year that serves as a kind of debriefing for the newly baptized. We can imagine the Church telling them, “Now that you are one with us, this is the way we live: we are ‘devoted...to the teaching of the apostles and to the communal life, to the breaking of bread and to the prayers.’” This small, understated verse describes the genius of Catholicism.

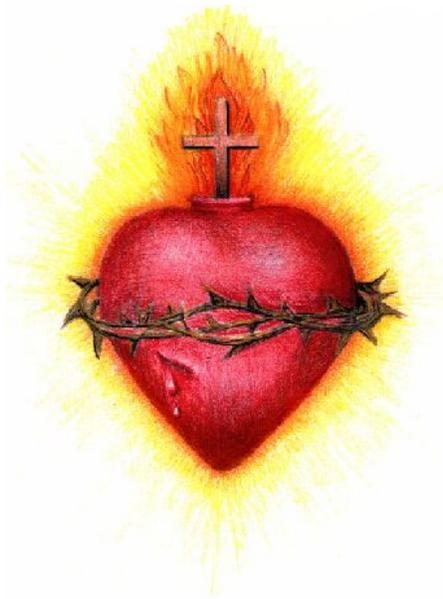

Commentators have also seen in this list of the four concerns of the early Church (the teaching of the Apostles, common life in Christ, the breaking of bread or the Eucharist, and the life of prayer) a description of the classical divisions of catechesis. The Catechism of the Catholic Church is ordered along the same fourfold division: the Creed, the Sacraments, the Commandments, and prayer. The Catechism purposely changed the ordering to make the point that life in Christ, what our reading calls “communal life,” can only be lived as a consequence of the graces received in the Sacraments. So it’s fitting that the Sacraments, represented in our reading by the phrase “the breaking of bread,” should be treated before, and the moral life or the Commandments, treated after.

Second Reading

God has given us an undiminished inheritance, safeguarded for us in heaven (1 Peter 1:3-9).

The “new birth” to which St. Peter refers is that Baptism which has been newly received by the neophytes (literally meaning “new plant,” used by the early Church to refer to those who had just entered her by Baptism). At the Easter Vigil, they received an “imperishable inheritance incapable of fading or defilement.” The pledge of salvation that we and the newly baptized have received doesn’t preclude the possibility of suffering. Easter doesn’t mean that suffering is at an end but that suffering is a means to the end of Resurrection. Suffering isn’t ended but transformed in the new life we receive from Baptism.

Part of the trial that our faith undergoes is that we “have not seen him.” We’re given many signs of his love and mercy but these often recede into the background of our lives as time passes. But if we retain an awareness of the special gifts God has given us and the small miracles he has performed in our own lives, then this helps us to walk in faith—even without seeing him. Clinging to the promise of our Baptism, even in the midst of trials, supplies us with cause for rejoicing.

Gospel

The risen Christ comes to his disciples with peace and the Spirit. The absent Thomas doubts (John 20:19-31).

As a Church we’re present on Easter morning to witness the risen glory of Jesus Christ. We share the joy and recognition of St. Mary Magdalene and the Apostles. But, just as we’re represented collectively as a Church in the characters of Mary Magdalene and the Apostles, so are we also absent and doubting on that first Easter day in the person of Thomas.

The Second Sunday of Easter could be called Thomas’s Easter. He represents that part of us that holds out against faith—relentlessly asking for proof and confirmation. Because of this, Thomas is a particularly good model for our age. He demands an empirical, tangible demonstration that Jesus is risen in the flesh.

In John’s Gospel, seeing is believing. John seems to emphasize the evidence that sight supplies to the identity of the Lord Jesus. Sight and blindness are metaphors for enlightenment and sin. So there’s this tension between the evidence that Jesus gives us and our human insistence that he continually reinforce our faith with signs. The Catholic conception of belief has always respected both our human need to be shown the truth and our spiritual need for the faith that perfects our reason. The Church respects both because Jesus respected both.

Grow in Discipleship

The second Sunday after Easter is designated Divine Mercy Sunday. It's a recent feast in the Church, instituted in 2000 by Pope St. John Paul II. He felt that immediately after Easter, while the Paschal mysteries were fresh in our hearts, we needed an opportunity to reflect more deeply on God's great mercy manifested in the Resurrection.

So how does this feast fit with the Gospel reading of Jesus's appearance in the Upper Room? When the reading begins, the disciples are hiding in fear for their lives, certain that the officials would be coming to get them just as they came for Jesus. Compounding their fear is the recognition that they had abandoned Jesus in his hour of greatest need. They are scared, disgraced, and guilty. At that very moment, who should enter into their sorrow and shame but Jesus himself. Jesus comes, despite the locked doors, to stand in their midst, offering them both peace and mercy. In addition, he tells them that through the power of the Holy Spirit, they, too, will have the ability to extend mercy by forgiving sins.

Today, through our priests who have been ordained in apostolic succession, we, too, can receive mercy and forgiveness. All we need to do is repent and trust in the mercy of God. Indeed, today's feast invites us to trust that no matter what wrong we may have done, Jesus loves us and wants us to experience his mercy. That's why one simple prayer associated with Divine Mercy devotion sums up the confidence we should have in Christ's mercy: "Jesus, I trust in you."

Divine Mercy Devotion

The Divine Mercy devotion was first instituted by the twentieth century Polish saint, St. Faustina Kowalska, who reported a series of visions of Jesus in which he asked her to tell the world about the mercy of God. She had the image of Jesus as he appeared in the visions painted. In the painting, Jesus is shown with rays of red and blue, representing blood and water, emanating from his heart along with the words "Jesus, I trust in you!" Jesus explained to St. Faustina that "the pale ray stands for the Water, which makes souls righteous; the red ray stands for the Blood, which is the life of souls. These two rays issued forth from the depths of my most tender Mercy at that time when my agonizing Heart was opened by a lance on the Cross."

The three main messages of the devotion are to ask for God's mercy, to be merciful to others, and to trust completely in Jesus. The feast of Divine Mercy had been celebrated in Poland and Vatican City, but on April 30, 2000, the day of Sister Faustina's canonization, Pope St. John Paul II decreed that throughout the world the Second Sunday of Easter will receive the name Divine Mercy Sunday, a perennial invitation to the Christian world to face, with confidence in divine benevolence, the difficulties and trials that mankind will experience in the years to come.

Bible Study Group Accepting New Members for the Book of James Starting May 18

James: Pearls for Wise Living: James is one of the most practical books of the Bible. Like the book of Proverbs, it is a book of wisdom, a collection of teachings on issues faced by ordinary Christians in everyday life. These teachings speak loudly to all those who feel torn between the competing demands of this world and their faith. This study offers "pearls for wise living" by applying the wisdom of James to the present day.

This eleven-session study will begin on May 18 at 6:30 pm in the Convent. Contact Ken at steamboat-willie1928@comcast.net

TRADICIONES DE NUESTRA FE

El 20 de abril de 1906 los ojos de una imagen de la Dolorosa comenzaron a parpadear durante un lapso de 15 minutos en el colegio jesuita San Gabriel, en Quito, Ecuador. En 1995 en Cochabamba, Bolivia, donde una imagen del Divino rostro lagrimó sangre y después, una imagen de la Inmaculada hizo lo mismo. En el transcurso del siglo veinte, muchísimas imágenes de Cristo, María e incluso, el Espíritu Santo, lloraron lágrimas de agua, sangre u óleo, emitieron aroma de rosa o mostraron alguna manifestación paranormal.

La ciencia logró explicar algunos de estos fenómenos, pero en muchos casos no fue posible. Normalmente, la jerarquía eclesiástica prefiere no hacer declaraciones oficiales al respecto, por lo menos, no antes de mucho escrutinio. El apóstol san Juan recomienda examinar cada espíritu (1 Juan 4:1-3) y esto es lo que la Iglesia hace con estas manifestaciones sobrenaturales. Con investigaciones científicas, sociales y espirituales se examinan cuidadosamente estas manifestaciones a fin de asegurar que provienen de Dios y no del diablo u otros orígenes. En fin, la mejor prueba de la veracidad de estos fenómenos es la conversión de los fieles.

“Dichosos los que creen sin haber visto”.

— Juan 20:29b

VER ES CREER

En la lectura del pasaje de los Hechos de los Apóstoles leemos de una versión idealizada de lo que las primeras comunidades fueron. Las personas están dedicadas a la comunidad, a la enseñanza, a la Eucaristía y al sacrificio. Muchos signos y milagros sucedieron. Primero Pedro ofrece una imagen más realista pues el tiempo ha pasado y los creyentes siguen esperando. La fe se pone a prueba por el paso del tiempo y el sufrimiento que es parte de la vida. En el Evangelio, los discípulos están sobrecargados por los eventos recientes. Eso es todo de lo que pueden hablar. El pobre de Tomás se perdió de la visita de Jesús resucitado a los discípulos en la habitación cerrada. Él está enojado y rechaza compartir la emoción o aún creer lo que ocurrió. Así que Jesús se aparece una vez más, esta vez Tomás está presente. Jesús le dice que lo toque y meta sus dedos en las heridas para que Tomás pueda creer. Jesús luego le recuerda a Tomás y a nosotros que hay algo más que creer que está más allá de la realidad física.

¿O NO?

Somos como Tomás más frecuentemente de lo que podríamos pensar. Nos alteramos cuando no podemos ver directamente o experimentar los resultados de nuestra fe. Queremos alguna evidencia por todos los años de fe y lucha cuando parece tan poco que ver de nuestra fe. El error que Tomás hizo y que nosotros hacemos es pensar que si pudiéramos solo ver alguna evidencia que nuestra fe hace una diferencia, entonces sería más fácil tener fe. Pero no es la evidencia lo que hace la fe posible. Tomás no aumenta su fe porque él pone su mano en las heridas de Jesús. Tomás aumenta su fe porque Jesús regresa. Jesús regresa una y otra vez. Jesús regresa cada vez que invocamos su presencia en nuestra vida porque Jesús nunca nos deja. Tomás solo tuvo que pedirlo. Nosotros necesitamos solo pedir.

Padre Eterno, te ofrezco el Cuerpo, la Sangre, el Alma y la Divinidad de tu amadísimo Hijo, nuestro Señor Jesucristo, para el perdón de nuestros pecados y los del mundo entero.

Prayer to St. Michael

St. Michael the Archangel, defend us in battle. Be our protection against the wickedness and snares of the Devil. May God rebuke him, we humbly pray, and do thou, O Prince of the heavenly hosts, by the divine power of God, cast into hell satan, and all the evil spirits, who roam throughout the world seeking the ruin of souls. Amen.

Oracion a San Miguel Arcangel

O San Miguel, Arcangel defiendenos la batalla. Se nuestra proteccion contra el mal y las trampas del Diablo; humildemente te rogamos que Dios los reprenda. O Principe Celestial de la Santa Hostia, que con la ayuda de Dios echas a Satanas al infierno y a los espiritus que vagan por el mundo para arruinar las almas. Amén.
