Lift Up Your Hearts!

People in our society today often talk about being a “basically good person.”

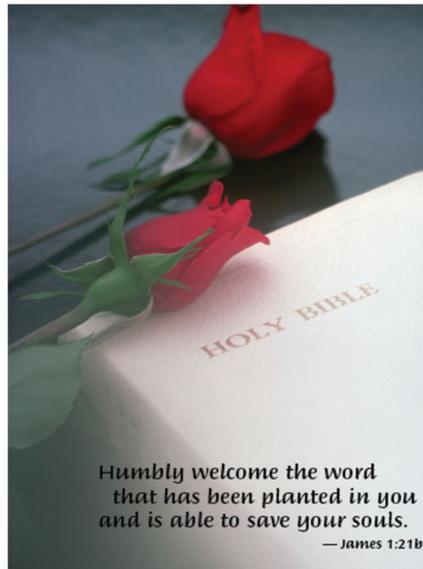

When we start thinking about what we should do or how we should act in specific situations, we might measure ourselves against this vague idea of the “basically good person”. We might even hide behind the idea of being a “good person” when we don’t want to do the right thing in the moment. We might think to ourselves, “Well, I haven’t killed anyone or stolen anything.”

This flawed vision of the moral life translates into how we live as Christians. We think that God simply wants us to be a “good person,” and relativize our sins, comparing them to our good actions. Nevertheless, this is not the message of the Gospel. Rather, through Christ’s Death and Resurrection, we have the grace to be completely transformed from the old man, the man living in sin, to the new man, the man who lives entirely in Christ (Ephesians 4:22-24).

God wants us to give him our whole lives, meaning that we also desire to live in complete unity with him. We can do good acts but still keep our hearts far from him. If we give our hearts entirely to him, however, the power of Jesus’s Resurrection can transform us so that we become more like him. Our actions will then flow seamlessly from our hearts, because we have been transformed to live like Christ.

First Reading Reflection Deuteronomy 4:1–2, 6–8

Moses addresses the people just before their entry into the Promised Land. After recounting much of their relationship with God, he now encourages them by calling them to obey the covenant laws that will follow this speech. He begins, “Hear the statutes and ordinances I am teaching you to observe” (Deuteronomy 4:1). The Hebrew word for “hear” can also be translated to “obey.” But why obey? Moses’s answer is clear: “that you may live.” The Law of God leads to life—a life of blessing in the Promised Land. In the middle portion of this speech (omitted), Moses commends the people for remaining true to the Lord during the time in which many of their fellow Israelites worshipped the false god, Baal of Peor (see Numbers 25). In order to keep their track record of fidelity, the people must continue to obey the Lord. If they do they will show their wisdom and intelligence before the peoples of the world (see v. 6). Moses then cites the incomparability of Israel’s status and Law before God versus the other nations and their laws. From this passage, several lessons arise for us. First, the laws of God, the rules we must follow as Christians, are not mere arbitrary prescriptions, but they are for our good, for our very life. Second, when we obey the Lord, we show ourselves to be living in accord with the truth—by God-given knowledge, not by the ignorance of the world. Lastly, when we live like Christ, other people will take notice and recognize the wisdom of living according to the Gospel. Thus we can give witness to its truth by living it out.

Second Reading Reflection

James 1:17–18, 21b–22, 27

Have you ever looked into the mirror and not liked what you saw? Sometimes, despite the best of intentions, we find ourselves doing things that we did not intend or want. Our aspirations do not always become embodied in our behavior. We can feel divided within, at war with ourselves.

This inner conflict is distressing because it reveals our lack of self-mastery, our inability to truly control our own actions. We find ourselves driven by desire rather than by the rational decisions of our mind. St. James here helps us look within. He calls us to be “doers of the word and not hearers only, deluding yourselves (1:22). When we lack consistency between our interior motives and our external actions, we are delusional—like claiming to be on a diet while eating piles of donuts. Our actions, not just our thoughts, matter. As the saying goes, “the road to Hell is paved with good intentions.” James seems to support this sentiment when he tells us that if a man fails to exercise control over his speech then “his religion is vain” (v. 26). In fact, James defines religion as caring for widows and orphans while maintaining a morally upright life (see v. 27). Getting our actions to line up with our best intentions is the hardest part of the art of Christian living, which is why we need the grace of the Holy Spirit to help us overcome our weakness. With his assistance, we can live in victory and really become “doers of the word.”

Gospel Reflection

Mark 7:1–8, 14–15, 21–23

The Gospel reading for today beautifully brings together the lessons of the first two readings—both Moses’s exhortation to obey the Law and James’s call to genuine moral uprightness. The story unfolds as a controversy. The Pharisees challenge Jesus over the behavior of his disciples who are not following all of the ritual purity rules scrupulously. In specific, they are not washing their hands before eating. Yet Jesus does not condescend to even discuss handwashing at all. Instead, he sees through the Pharisees’ smoke screen—the issue isn’t really the issue—and challenges them in return. He accuses them of hypocrisy and stings them with an appropriate quote from Isaiah. When the charge sticks, that these Pharisees’ interior spiritual attitudes do not line up with their showy external observances, Jesus makes a larger point. Essentially, he teaches the inner moral purpose of the ritual purity laws of the Old Covenant, while rescinding these laws for New Covenant believers: “Nothing that enters one from outside can defile that person; but the things that come out from within are what defile” (Mark 7:15). For Jesus, our moral status is not about what foods we eat, but about how we behave, how we act. It is possible that we could observe all kinds of trivial religious rules yet be living in grave sin in far more important matters. Jesus rattles off a list of serious sins, “evil thoughts, unchastity, theft, murder” and so on (vv. 21–22). These sins, he argues, come from within our hearts and they are what make us impure before God. To be truly holy, we must change both our behavior and our thoughts.

Do you ever struggle with focusing on God during Mass, prayer, or even throughout your daily life? How do you think God looks at you during those moments, as an angry master or as a loving Father?

Do you relate with having false ideas about the nature of God? What other images of God do you have that might not conform to the Gospel?

Return to the Gospel for today. We can relate to the Pharisees, who are focused on the motions and actions of their lives that they have forgotten what it truly means to love God. Their worship and good actions are in vain because they refuse to give their hearts to the Lord. They have kept themselves ritually clean on the surface, but sin has been allowed to grow and fester in their hearts in secret. The same happens to us when we do not give our hearts to God. Jesus calls everyone to repentance, such that we give our whole lives to God.

Resolution

The Gospel demands more of us than simply going through the motions—the true Gospel calls us to give our whole being to Christ. He asks us to share in his own life, to lift up our hearts to him and allow him to transform us. If we are truly living as Christians, we are not merely basically good people. Rather, we are sinners who put themselves in the hands of a loving Father who is preparing us for heaven. Sadly, many Catholics go through their whole lives attending Church without hearing this Good News. This week, how can you start to purge your life of the lies of the world and live in the reality of the Gospel? How can you lift up your heart to the Lord and give him permission to transform you?

Remember in Prayer

The Boyle and Lara families offer prayers of thanksgiving for all who have expressed their prayers and condolences for their beloved son, Robert, during his illness and death. They are deeply grateful.

For the repose of the souls of Jean Diane Edwards, Daniel Figueiredo and Editha Bagnas Minglana.

Dear St Michael Parishioners,

What makes a parish great is the sharing of our diverse gifts: our time, our talents and our treasure. St. Paul wrote, "There is one body, but it has many parts. But all its many parts make up one body. It is the same with Christ. We were all baptized by one Holy Spirit." (1 Cor 12: 12-13)

Because we are formed into one body, I have always believed that teamwork, collaboration and consultation have tremendous power in building a vibrant community. Even my favorite Golden State Warriors are guided by their motto "Strength in Numbers"!

Looking into the history of St Michael, the principal reason this parish has existed for many years is because people have shared their gifts, ministering to one another. It is about people and individuals who have had vision and who have set goals to unite us. Brick by brick. Stone by stone. This church is a product of God's call to unity and collaboration. People giving and sharing what they have to build the church, our school, our facilities and by doing so, also touching hearts.

Today, the call is totally and obviously the same. Each family, each household and each individual must come together to continue the mission for another 100 years and beyond. A month from now, we will celebrate our church's 100 year anniversary. There are no other words worth saying other than "Thank you, Lord!" Thank you all for your ministries and love for St Michael Parish. I thank God that you have welcomed me as part of your family and community.

Embark on a journey with me to write another chapter of our parish history. As we are grateful for all who have toiled and sacrificed 100 years ago to build our beautiful church, let us come together and use our time, talent and treasure to continue the legacy of St Michael Parish... to celebrate the sacraments, grow disciples and bring Christ to people.

St Michael, defend us and protect us!

Centennial Prayer Pray August 30—September 29

Fr Carl has asked that every parishioner pray this prayer every day through September 29, after Mass, at home with your family, before beginning any ministry gathering or meeting:

“Merciful Loving Father, creator and fount of all blessings and graces. We praise and glorify you for guiding and forming our parish as your family and community. You have inspired us to build our church, your abode, so we may always remember you, give you thanks and worship you.

As we celebrate the 100-year anniversary of our church, we give you thanks for showing us your mercy and your love through the countless parishioners, clergy and religious who have shared their resources and gifts to build our church. We thank you for all who continue their legacy of making our church a beacon of hope, peace and healing for the city of Livermore.

We ask that you continue to inspire us to celebrate the sacraments, grow disciples and bring Christ to people.

We ask this through our Lord, Jesus Christ who lives and reigns with you in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God, forever and ever.

St. Michael, the archangel, defend us in battle....

Amen.”

Estimados feligreses de San Miguel:

Lo que hace que una parroquia sea grandiosa es compartir nuestros diversos dones: nuestro tiempo, nuestros talentos y nuestro tesoro. San Pablo escribió: "Hay un solo cuerpo, pero tiene muchas partes. Pero todas sus muchas partes forman un solo cuerpo. Es lo mismo con Cristo. Todos fuimos bautizados por un solo Espíritu Santo" (1 Cor 12: 12). -13)

Debido a que estamos formados en un solo cuerpo, siempre he creído que el trabajo en equipo, la colaboración y la consulta tienen un tremendo poder para construir una comunidad vibrante. ¡Incluso mis Golden State Warriors favoritos son guiados por su lema "Strength in Numbers"! Observando la historia de San Miguel, la razón principal por la cual esta parroquia ha existido por muchos años es porque la gente ha compartido sus dones, ayudándose unos a otros. Se trata de personas con visión, que han establecido objetivos para unirse. Ladrillo por ladrillo, piedra por piedra. Esta iglesia, es un producto del llamado de Dios a la unidad y a la colaboración. Las personas dan y comparten lo que tienen para construir la iglesia, nuestra escuela, nuestras instalaciones y, al hacerlo, también tocan los corazones.

Hoy, la llamada es total y obviamente la misma. Cada familia, cada hogar y cada individuo deben unirse para continuar la misión por otros 100 años y más. Dentro de un mes, celebraremos el 100 aniversario de nuestra iglesia. No hay otras palabras que valga la pena decir aparte de "¡Gracias, Señor!" Gracias a todos por sus ministerios y amor por la Parroquia de San Miguel. Le agradezco a Dios que me hayan recibido como parte de esta familia y comunidad.

Unase en un viaje conmigo para escribir otro capítulo de nuestra historia parroquial. Mientras agradecemos a todos los que se han esforzado y sacrificado hace 100 años para construir nuestra hermosa iglesia, unámonos y usemos nuestro tiempo, talento y tesoro para continuar el legado de la parroquia de San Miguel ... para celebrar los sacramentos, hacer discípulos y llevar a Cristo a las personas.

¡San Miguel, defiéndenos y protégenos!

P. Carl, pastor
Pastor@StMichaelLivermore.com

Oración Centenaria

Ora del 30 de agosto al 29 de septiembre

El P. Carl ha pedido que cada feligrés haga esta oración todos los días hasta el 29 de septiembre, después de la Misa, en el hogar con su familia, antes de comenzar cualquier reunión o reunión ministerial:

Padre amoroso, misericordioso, creador y fuente de todas las bendiciones y gracias. Te alabamos y te glorificamos por guiar y formar nuestra parroquia como tu familia y comunidad. Nos has inspirado para construir nuestra iglesia, tu morada, para que siempre po-damos recordarte, darte gracias y adorarte.

Al celebrar el 100 aniversario de nuestra iglesia, le damos gracias por mostrarnos su misericordia y su amor a través de innumerables feligreses, clérigos y religiosos que han compartido sus recursos y dones para construir nuestra iglesia. Le agradecemos a todos los que continúan este legado haciendo nuestra iglesia un faro de esperanza, paz y curación para la ciudad de Livermore.

Le pedimos que continúe inspirándonos para celebrar los sacramentos, hacer discípulos y llevar a Cristo a las personas.

Te lo pedimos por nuestro Señor, Jesucristo, que vive y reina contigo en la unidad del Espíritu Santo, un solo Dios, por los siglos de los siglos.

San Miguel, el arcángel, defiéndenos en la batalla ...
